

Advancing Safety for People Who Walk, Bike, and Roll in North Carolina

Virtual Workshops

Pedestrian and bicyclist safety is an important issue for the health, safety, and mobility of all communities across North Carolina. How can communities help people move around safely? What are the various roles, practices, and resources within cities and towns that community members can learn about and work with to help create a culture of safety?

The Watch for Me NC program announces a series of five free, virtual workshops on pedestrian and bicyclist safety and related topics. Workshops are open to all and community members from across the State are invited to attend to learn more about safety for people who walk, bike, and roll. It is not necessary to participate in the Watch for Me NC program to attend.
